

Writing topic:

Most of the world's poor live in countries where tourism is a growing industry. The issue is that tourism does not benefit the poorest. How can the income generated by tourism benefit the poor? And how can we ensure that tourism does not destroy traditional culture and ways of life?

What are your views?

My answer:

Some people believe that tourism has a detrimental effect on the life of poor people, and ruins the traditions and life styles. I completely disagree with this idea, mainly due to the positive effects of tourism on the economy of countries.

Problem with the introduction! The question is not a debate type. It wanted you to give solutions on how to use the tourism income for poor people and how to keep traditional culture.

It is obvious that job opportunities increase as the number of tourists increases; they need hotel, transportation, shop and entertaining services, by which high number of people could get job.

The paragraph has a lack of focus!

Increase in the number of employment has been reported as a result of tourism in many tourism-oriented economies such as Egypt, Turkey, China and etc. however, it is depends on the city officials to ~~us as much as use~~ these opportunities as must as possible.

Topic sentences must be an idea not a general fact.

In addition to the above-mentioned benefits, tourists always bring the new culture, as well as new idea, which have positive financial effects on host people's economy in most ~~of the~~ cases. Nevertheless, open-minded people have been much successful than those who do not like to communicate with the outside world. Although, this exchanging of idea might destroy some old traditions, ~~but~~ it does not mean that they ruins the host people's traditions. Experiences ~~have has~~ shown ~~that~~ host people forget the custom that they ~~do not them~~ longer.

Although does not need any BUT

No need for a comma on either sides of THAT

Where is the verb?

In conclusion, I think that, some exception of harmful effects of tourism on financial conditions of host people must not be included in drawing conclusion about the role of tourism on them. ~~In contrary~~ In contrast, tourism has a high potential to develop the economic ~~grows~~ growth of countries.

There have been several instances of mistakes with lexical resources in your writing. Plus, I think you do not have any idea on how to organize an essay. You have problem with the introduction paragraph as well as your topic sentences and the way you have separated paragraphs.
